About This Game

Hush Hush is a scare jumper. You run and something tries to scare you. Its an action arcade mix with survival horror elements. Play with headphones or on really huge speakers with windows open.

It is procedurally generated fiction game where player explores underground caves filled with dangerous traps and monsters to liberate the caves from curse.

You have one life. Fail and you start from scratch.

Scattered throughout caves are several items that boost character performance. Only when one finds sufficient number of items can he enter absolution and be able to solve the mystery of a roaming ghost.

Don't look at red light.

Features:

- unlimited number of levels, procedurally generated

- unique story line and player experience

- replay value in generated dynamic maps

- fear inducing atmosphere with generated scare sequences

- requires balance between patience and speed

This is dangerous place and should you encounter a situation then a punch with 'Q' or 'E' will probably break it.

hush hush unlimited survival horror runs like♥♥♥♥♥♥, makes no sense, and crashes when you collect items. Christ this game is a load of hot garbage. Struggle to control your character due to awkward controls and animations, bump into everything ever with random "Scary" noises that play for no reason. Jump straight up six feet in the air in a matter of seconds. Sometimes turn around for no reason! Honestly just avoid and save yourself some pennies.. I'm sorry.

This was the worst game i have ever played. Ever.

It crashed every time the character died.

The controls did not work.

It did not make sense at all.

Worst Game Ever.
